ForgeOne™ CRM Adds Google Drive™ Backup So Contractors Keep Control of Their Job Files

Photos, documents and reports from ForgeOne CRM can now back up to the contractor company's own Google Drive.

FORT WORTH, Texas — October 16, 2026 — ForgeOne™ CRM, the contractor management platform built by a contractor for contractors, today announced a Google Drive integration that backs up ForgeOne CRM files to the contractor company's own Google Drive account.

A single roofing job can produce hundreds of photos, plus measurement reports, estimates, signed contracts and insurance paperwork. Contractors want those records stored where their business already keeps files, under their own account. The integration does that without manual downloads and uploads.

With the integration, contractors can:

- Connect the company's Google Drive from ForgeOne CRM settings in a few steps
- Back up ForgeOne CRM job files to Drive automatically
- Keep the Drive connection owned by the company, not an individual user
- Give the office a second, familiar place to find job records

> "Your job files are your business records, and you should own where they live," said James McGaugh, Founder & Owner of ForgeOne CRM. "Connecting Google Drive gives contractors a backup they control, in a tool their office already uses every day."

The Google Drive integration is available now to ForgeOne CRM customers from the Integrations tab in settings. Learn more at integrations.forgeonecrm.com.

ABOUT GOOGLE DRIVE

Google Drive is Google's cloud file storage and sharing service and part of Google Workspace, used by individuals and businesses to store, access and share files from any device.

ABOUT FORGEONE™ CRM

ForgeOne CRM is a Fort Worth, Texas-based contractor management platform built from years of hands-on contractor and insurance workflow experience.
