ForgeOne™ CRM Launches Dropbox Integration for Contractor File Backup

Contractors can back up ForgeOne CRM job files to their company Dropbox while keeping unrelated files out of the connection.

FORT WORTH, Texas — October 16, 2026 — ForgeOne™ CRM, the contractor management platform built by a contractor for contractors, today announced a Dropbox integration that backs up ForgeOne CRM files to the contractor company's Dropbox account.

Many contracting companies already run their office files through Dropbox. The integration lets them add ForgeOne CRM job records to that same storage without giving ForgeOne CRM access to everything else in the account. ForgeOne CRM files stay organized in their own space, and unrelated Dropbox files stay outside the connection.

With the integration, contractors can:

- Connect the company's Dropbox from ForgeOne CRM settings
- Back up job photos, measurement reports, estimates and documents
- Keep unrelated Dropbox content separate from ForgeOne CRM
- Keep the storage connection owned by the company

> "Contractors told us they wanted their ForgeOne CRM files backed up where the rest of their business already lives," said James McGaugh, Founder & Owner of ForgeOne CRM. "For a lot of shops, that's Dropbox. Now it's one connection and done."

The Dropbox integration is available now in the ForgeOne CRM web app from the Integrations tab in settings. Support in the ForgeOne CRM iOS app is planned. Learn more at integrations.forgeonecrm.com.
